RE: Yochheim Subdivision /APN 012-100-042/Oak Woodlands Protection

I have reviewed the proposed parcel split project as it relates to the County's requirements to protect oak woodlands under PRC 21083.4 (SB 1334). The specific purpose of my review of the project was to answer the following questions:

1. Does the project area contain oak woodlands?
2. Does the project result in the direct or indirect conversion of oak woodlands that will have a significant effect on the environment?

Methodology:

A 400 foot by 200 foot plot grid was laid out on aerial photography of the property resulting in 63 sample plots. At each plot I estimated oak canopy cover of oak trees 5 inches DBH (diameter at breast height) or larger. I field reviewed the plots to check accuracy of aerial photo estimates. The tentative parcel map, zoning, and General Plan land use classification were reviewed to determine potential impacts.

Results:

Oak species consisting blue oak (Quercus douglasii) and interior live oak (Quercus wislizenii) were present on the parcel. Digger pine was a significant overstory specie. California buckeye, chemise, toyon, buck brush and manzanita were prevalent throughout the property. Most of the oak trees were small diameter, averaging less than 10 inches, and were concentrated in draws and on north facing slopes. The concentrations of oak stands were fragmented into six distinct areas thereby reducing the importance of these stands as oak woodland habitat. The overall average canopy cover of oak on the property was estimated to be 13%.

Conclusion:

The Department of Fish & Game Code Section 1360(h) defines oak woodland as an oak stand containing greater than 10% oak canopy cover or may have historically supported greater than 10% canopy cover. Based on the low percentage of existing oak canopy cover and the fragmentation of the oak stands, the parcel is categorized as marginal oak woodland. The project as proposed will utilize existing roads, open ridge top areas and other open ground located between the fragmented oak stands. The project will not reduce the percentage of oak canopy cover and will not result in the direct or indirect conversion of oak woodlands that will have a significant effect on the environment.

Sincerely,

Ron Monk
